TASK There are a lot of different types of images. Some are more complex than others and require more time to create, and that's why they have a higher price tag. However, in some cases, images are created simply to be displayed on a web page, the web, or e-mails. These images don't need to be very complex and sometimes, especially if there's a specific file format that you prefer, don't need any complex editing. The truth is that anyone can edit an image to some degree. But some images are more difficult to manipulate than others. Here's the most common resources for learning the Photoshop essentials in 2019: Photoshop Resources These are the best resources to master the basics of Photoshop. This includes lighting, color, perspective, types of layers, and much more. Let's start with the basics. Lighting Lighting is the foundation of any image. It defines the mood, atmosphere, and tone of any image. The changes made in the Lighting panel also affect how the color looks and how the final image will appear. The best images are usually the ones with the most accurate and realistic lighting. In this section, I will go over how to approach and improve the lighting of any image. You can do this with the Basic panel, but learning it the right way is the best place to start. Any changes made in the Basic panel will have immediate effects on the image. How to Edit Lighting As stated before, the most important thing to remember is that the changes you make to Lighting in the Basic panel will also affect the brightness and appearance of all the other colors in your image. The changes in the Basic panel will also affect the overall mood and tone of the image. The best way to start the process is by making a duplicate (CTRL+J) of your image layer. This duplicate layer will be unaffected by the changes you make in the Basic panel. The next step is to open the Levels panel and select the Settings button. You will see the default settings for the Levels panel. Click the button that says 'Preset: Base.' You will also see an icon that says 'Preset 1. 388ed7b0c7'
